Announcement: On Thursday, July 21, a power failure in the NSF Data Center caused all servers to shut down. This means that NSF IT Systems are currently unavailable to both NSF staff and research applicants/awardees. All systems and websites are down, including Research.gov, NSF.gov, and FastLane. All deadline dates (including the CAREER program) scheduled for today will be postponed until early next week. A notice will be published on the NSF website and FastLane page when specific deadline dates have been determined.
